Part C: Main risk types

Type 1 – Project risk

1. Risk associated with the early stage of the portfolio companies

Risk: The companies in which NEWTREE invests or may invest in the future generally operate at an early stage and therefore carry inherent risks. The net proceeds of the fundraising will be used primarily to invest in a pipeline of direct investments and to seize future opportunities, with an emphasis on young companies. These companies, whether existing or potential future portfolio companies, are often - but not always - in the pre-revenue phase and focus on developing new technologies and products that may not yet have been brought to market. This type of investment is therefore risky, as there is little proven track record, product development is still in progress and commercialization may not yet have taken place. Early-stage and pre-revenue companies can face a number of risks, for example:

- Failure of products, intellectual property or offerings to materialize into commercially viable products or technologies.
- Difficulty in obtaining subsequent financing, which hampers ongoing research, development and commercialization efforts.
- The departure of key people can lead to a situation where the company's growth is halted because there is no one left to make (good) decisions.

Consequence: These risks, individually or in combination, can affect the ability of portfolio companies to achieve their objectives. Indeed, the realization of the risks described above may lead to a lower valuation of the involved company than at the time of investment, resulting in a lower-than-expected return or no return at all. In the worst case, there may even be liquidation and bankruptcy of the involved companies. Although this is NEWTREE's core business, it could have an impact on NEWTREE's investment results.

2. Risk associated with minority participations

Risk: NEWTREE mainly holds minority stakes in its portfolio companies.

Consequence: Despite diligent efforts to access all relevant information and regular updates, NEWTREE may not obtain all the information needed to fully execute its investment strategy. Furthermore, as a minority shareholder, NEWTREE may have limited influence over decisions taken within portfolio companies, which could impact their valuation and complicate exit strategies. In addition, it is conceivable that the principal shareholders of portfolio companies may have interests that diverge from those of NEWTREE. These factors may collectively influence the valuation of portfolio companies and/or the recurring revenues they generate.

3. The risk associated with the need for new financing

Risk: Given the project owner's strong growth, it is likely that there will be a need for new financing.

Consequence: On the one hand, there's a risk that the company won't find investors. This could lead to a lower valuation in the event of a possible exit because the business plan could not be executed as planned. In that case, there could be lower or even non-existent returns. In the worst case, there could even be a liquidation and bankruptcy of NEWTREE, with partial or complete loss of the invested capital. On the other hand, NEWTREE may find new investors, leading to significant dilution if a lower valuation than today's is used.

Since its inception, the majority of NEWTREE's resources have been devoted to portfolio investments and administrative operations, underlining the importance it places on growing and diversifying its portfolio. To date, NEWTREE has maintained a largely positive cash flow by prudently limiting its investment commitments in accordance with available funds. However, as NEWTREE continues to grow and expand the scope of its portfolio and the geography of its investments, it is expected to have an increasing need for significant capital in the near future. It is important that investors recognize the potential risks associated with NEWTREE's need for additional funding and the impact it may have on its ability to effectively execute its investment strategy. NEWTREE remains committed to actively managing these risks by always maintaining a cash position which allows to run the company's operations for an uninterrupted period of at least 12 months, while seeking opportunities to raise the capital necessary to continue its growth and success. It should be noted that investors will have the option of reinvesting in new public rounds, under the investment conditions in force at the time.

4. The risk associated with the dematerialization of shares

Risk: It is NEWTREE's intention to dematerialize the shares as soon as possible. However, this does not depend solely on NEWTREE.

Consequence: Dematerialization may take (slightly) longer than expected, depending on Euroclear and/or the banks where the securities accounts have been opened. In addition, orders may not be entered correctly, requiring corrections.

Type 2 – Sector risk

Risk: NEWTREE is active in venture capital, which means that it invests in companies that are not listed on the stock exchange and are therefore not always very liquid. Indeed, NEWTREE's investment strategy generally involves long-term investment horizons. NEWTREE may therefore find it difficult to sell investments quickly at or close to fair value.

Consequence: The positive or negative revaluation of the net asset value (« NAV ») of investments made by NEWTREE is latent and will only be realized when an investment is sold.

To mitigate this risk, NEWTREE uses cash flow planning to anticipate future cash requirements. When financial instruments need to be sold to meet these needs, NEWTREE implements a controlled process aimed at minimizing liquidity risk.

Type 3 - Risk of insolvency and bankruptcy of the project owner

Risk: The risk of insolvency means that NEWTREE does not have sufficient funds to meet its payment deadlines (cessation of payments).

Consequence: If the company does not find financing, it may go bankrupt. The insolvency or bankruptcy may lead to lower or non-existent returns and in the worst case to a partial or total loss of the invested capital.

To date, NEWTREE has maintained a positive cash flow by prudently limiting its investment commitments according to available funds and by always maintaining a net cash position of over €750,000 over the course of its operations.

Type 4 - Risk of lower, delayed or no returns

1. The risk associated with the lack of guarantees

Risk: Investing in NEWTREE shares is a long-term investment. These shares do not offer a fixed return, nor do they provide any guarantee of return or repayment of the capital invested.

Consequence: If the project owner's forecasts do not materialize, there is a risk of lower or non-existent returns and, in the worst case, partial or total loss of the capital invested.

Type 5 - Risk of a platform failure

Not relevant. The probability of failure of SPREDS or ECCO NOVA is extremely low. If - contrary to all expectations - one of the two platforms should find itself temporarily or permanently unable to provide its services, subscriptions made previously remain valid and new subscriptions can be made with the other platform. The chances of both platforms being incapacitated at the same time are virtually non-existent.

Type 6 - Risk of illiquidity of the investment

1. The risk associated with NEWTREE's share price

Risk: The issue price has been determined by NEWTREE and may not be related to the NAV, NEWTREE's net worth or any other established criteria or value.

Consequence: There is no guarantee that the common shares can achieve higher valuations or, if they do, that such higher valuations can be maintained.

2. The risk associated with the low free float on Euronext Access

Risk: Investing in shares traded on Euronext Access may involve lower liquidity and is generally considered to involve a higher level of risk than investing in companies listed on the regulated market. It is important for potential investors to understand that the value of common shares can fluctuate, and that the market price may not accurately reflect NEWTREE's true value either upwards or downwards.

Consequence: On the one hand, investors must be prepared for the possibility of a decrease in the value of their investment and there is a risk of realizing less than their initial investment or even losing the entire investment. On the other hand, given the low free float, liquidity cannot be guaranteed at all times.

It should be noted, however, that the present capital increase will significantly increase the free float.

Type 7 – Other risks

Risk: SPREDS has not conducted an analysis of the proposed project or of the financial situation of the Company. ECCO NOVA's analysis is summarized in its risk analysis, available on the campaign web page.

Consequence: Any investor considering subscribing to NEWTREE's shares should make its own analysis of NEWTREE's solvency, activity, financial situation and prospects.

Indeed, any decision to invest should be based on a comprehensive analysis of the project and of this key investment information sheet. Crowdfunding platforms aim to enable investors to invest, after having made their own analyses.

Part D: Information related to the offer of transferable securities

(a)	Total amount and type of transferable securities to be offered
	Type and kind	When an investor invests in the proposed project, he subscribes to common shares in NEWTREE.

(b)	Subscription price:	Each share has a nominal amount of €2.90. The minimum subscription amount per investor is €1,450 (with increments of €290). There are no subscription fees. The total subscription price is therefore a minimum of €1,450.
(c)	Oversubscriptions:	Oversubscriptions are not accepted for this offer.
(d)	Terms of subscription and payment	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Opening date of the offer: The subscription offer will open on 25/04/2024. - Closing Date: The date on which the subscription period for this offer actually ends (02/06/2024 or 07/07/2024 at the latest if extended). - Effective date (meaning the date on which the shares are issued): No later than 1 month after the Closing Date, i.e. 02/07/2024 (or 07/08/2024 in the event of extension). - Subscription conditions: NEWTREE reserves the right not to accept subscriptions if the following conditions are not met by the Closing Date: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - The investor has given a power of attorney to SPREDS (for subscriptions made on the SPREDS platform) or ECCO NOVA (for subscriptions made on the ECCO NOVA platform) during the subscription to represent him at the capital increase in order to materialize his subscription to NEWTREE IMPACT Shares at a price of €2.90 per share and for the amount indicated in his subscription. - The investor wired the proceeds of his share subscription into a bank account dedicated to the campaign, the number of which is indicated during the online subscription. Note that the funds are blocked on the dedicated account until the conditions precedent are lifted. SPREDS' subscription conditions are detailed during the online subscription process. ECCO NOVA's general subscription conditions are detailed in article 7 of ECCO NOVA's general terms of use. A summary can also be found in ECCO NOVA's FAQ (« Comment investir? » or « Hoe investeren? »). - The investor has mandated SPREDS and/or ECCO NOVA to pay the funds received into NEWTREE's blocked account in the event that the offer's conditions precedent are fulfilled. - The investor has communicated a valid securities account number (i.e. belonging to a bank that appears in the list of accepted banks on the campaign webpage) to the crowdfunding service provider with which he has made his subscription. - The investor has expressly authorized NEWTREE, at the time of subscription, to dematerialize and deliver the subscribed shares as soon as possible, via Euroclear, to the securities account number provided at the time of subscription. - Conditions precedent to the offer: NEWTREE shares will only be issued if, within one month of the Closing Date (i.e. the Effective Date), the cumulative conditions precedent to the subscription of NEWTREE shares listed below are met: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - An extraordinary general meeting of NEWTREE's shareholders has been held, at which it was decided to proceed with a capital increase with the opening of a subscription period, and the board of directors has noted that the conditions for this capital increase have been met. - The total amount of commitments to subscribe to this capital increase is at least €500,250 and does not exceed €4,999,890. - The capital increase is based on a pre-money valuation of a maximum of €24,022,492.20, so that a nominal amount of €2.90 per share is respected. Should one or more of the conditions precedent not be fulfilled on the Effective Date, the shares will not be issued and investors will be reimbursed for their respective subscription price (without interest) no later than 15 business days after the Effective Date. If an investment can be made before or on the Effective Date, the investor will become a shareholder of NEWTREE. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Subscription price: The subscription amount is paid in full upon subscription to NEWTREE IMPACT shares. The funds are paid into a dedicated account number and will be transferred to NEWTREE's blocked account once the subscription period has ended and subject to fulfillment of the offer's conditions precedent.
(e)	Custody and delivery of transferable securities to investors	When the shares are issued, investors will be registered in NEWTREE's nominal share register. They will thus become shareholders of NEWTREE. Subsequently, and as soon as possible, NEWTREE will dematerialize the shares, via Euroclear Belgium SA/NV, and deliver them to the investors' securities accounts. To this effect, the securities accounts must have been opened with one of the banks appearing on the list of accepted banks on the campaign web page. After dematerialization, the shares will be freely tradable, being officially admitted to trading on Euronext Access. Investors will be informed of the share issue and dematerialization by e-mail. The custodian will be the custodian bank of the bank with which the investor has opened a securities account. There are no fees payable by the investor for this operation. Neither NEWTREE nor the crowdfunding service providers (SPREDS and ECCO NOVA) provide custody services.
